

THE PEARL KELLER SCHOOL

HAS TAKEN ENTIRE FLOOR AT 335 1/2 BRAND BOULEVARD ON LONG LEASE—GROWTH OF SCHOOL DEMANDS MORE SPACIOUS QUARTERS AND A CENTRAL LOCATION

Citizens who watch for signs of metropolitan development, and patrons of the Pearl Keller School of Dancing are rejoicing over the establishment of that school in the business center of Glendale. It was inaugurated at Brand boulevard and Laurel three years ago and has grown steadily, but inasmuch as its patronage has come from Eagle Rock and North Glendale as well as from the Tropico District, and larger quarters were needed, Mrs. Keller decided this fall to locate it more centrally. She has therefore leased for a period of years the entire upper floor of the building at 335 1/2 Brand boulevard which has been known as Butler's Hall. Her landlord, Mr. Thresher, is efficiently co-operating to make it fit her needs and when the changes he is making are completed, it will be quite ideal for the school. Mrs. Keller intends to spend a large amount in artistic furnishings and equipment, and if the plans she has outlined materialize, it will be exceedingly attractive.

The ballroom will be convertible into a theatre with seating capacity for an audience of 500, and the stage will be fitted with velvet drop curtains, footlights and up-to-date theatrical accessories. Here it will be possible to have frequent private recitals which will give parents an opportunity to watch the progress of their children and the development of the school.

It can also be transformed at will into a ballroom for class instruction and also for the social dances for pupils and friends which Mrs. Keller is planning to give during the winter, and will be rented for private parties. As there is a kitchen in connection which can be conveniently used for the serving of refreshments, it is likely to be in request.

Across the front of the building will be a business office, waiting room, dressing rooms for the children, and an apartment for Mrs. Keller's private use. Huge gas heaters will warm the ballroom and entire floor.

A reception will take place September 28th, when the school will be thrown open in the afternoon to children and young people who wish to enroll as pupils, and in the evening to adults, when there will be some program numbers and informal dancing.

The school term will begin the following Saturday, October 5th, when classes will be organized in ballet, ballroom and classic dancing. Private pupils for dramatic instruction will also be enrolled.

The growth made by this school shows that it is meeting a need in the community and its further development and popularity under more favorable conditions is assured. Mrs. Keller's hope to make it a rallying center for the best social element of the town which enjoys dancing and dramatic entertainments, will probably be realized.

Mrs. Keller's mother, Mrs. McCune, and her aunt and cousin, Mrs. and Miss Lockhart, will also locate here in an apartment.

DON HAMILTON ON FIGHTING FRONT

In the last letter which Mrs. Clara Hamilton received from her son Don Hamilton, he stated he was in the hospital for a few days recuperating from an abscess on his elbow, and it felt like a ten days' vacation as he had an American Red Cross nurse to take care of him and a nice, clean, cool place to sleep. He also said he had not seen Wallace yet, and to try and find him would be about like looking for Jones in New York. He seemed much struck by the contrast between France and America and declared the French are about 4000 years behind the times. "Their trains, for instance," said he, "are funny beside ours, which are five times as large. And their engines are about the size of the boilers in our engines." He stated he had not had mail from home for about 2 1/2 months, and this Mrs. Hamilton can not understand, as she and her daughters have written every week and sometimes often. He said the camp was in great commotion getting ready to go where there was more excitement. He is in the 4th Division Ammunition Train, and as the newspaper reports have said that division is in the fighting line, his mother believes he is on the battle front. He has often written of seeing the boys of the 13th Artillery, who are reported to be at the front, so doubtless they all are there.

THE COMMUNITY SING

Mrs. Catherine Shank has consented to give a number or two at the Community Sing tonight at the High School at 7:45. She will sing the wonderful new song which expresses the sentiment of the French, "The Americans Come."

The Sing tonight is bound to be a greater success than last time because the audience will know the words of some of the songs Professor Kirchoffer is teaching it, and also because the audience will probably be considerably larger than last time. No one should miss this meeting and the chance to practice the new and old war songs. Especially should the middle-aged singers who used to be in choirs come out. Their training will be of great help in this chorus work.

CAMPED AT MAMMOTH LAKE

Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Lusby and son Donald, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Case and daughter Beatrice, who left Glendale August 17th to camp and fish at Mammoth Lake, returned last Friday full of enthusiasm for out of door life in the mountains. During their absence they slept entirely in the open. While somewhat cooler than Glendale at night, temperatures during the day averaged about the same. They have no complaints of fishermen's luck and say they ate so many rainbow trout they ceased to be a luxury, and they brought the limit home with them to share with their friends. Mrs. Case reports that while the roads are not very good in some places, it is nevertheless a delightful journey. Their speedometers registered 703 miles for the trip, which is called a two-day journey, and that is the time they consumed in returning, but a stop at Bishop to replace a broken spring shaft on Dr. Lusby's car on the way out delayed them. Neither machine had tire trouble going or coming. They found the mountain thunder storms an awe-inspiring experience, very different from the low rumble occasionally heard here.

WILL SHE COME BACK?

J. E. Turner, Assistant Agent at the P. E. station, is bereft. He and Mrs. Turner came to California in December and Mr. T. succumbed to the charms of the Southland, fell head over heels in love with it. Not so Mrs. Turner, who missed her "own things" left behind in storage, and her Chicago friends. For her "the fields strove in vain to look gay," and now she has gone back to Chicago to ease her homesickness, and her husband is awaiting the turn of events. Bets that she will remain in the windy city find no takers. Old residents who have watched the workings of the California virus in the blood of tourists tell Mr. Turner not to worry, that when she has satisfied her longing to see her friends her heart will turn to California and when she comes again it will look very different to her. If one has once known the allurements of lovely, sunny California, it is not easy to live anywhere else.

FRENCH CLOSING IN ON HAM

GERMANS RETREATING TOWARD ST. QUENTIN—FRENCH ADVANCE IN AILETTE-AISNE REGION IS RAPID

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, September 5.—The French are closing in on Ham and simultaneously striking eastward to outflank the Germans beyond the Vesle river. North of the Vesle the Franco-Americans have reached the heights dominating the Aisne.

East of Nesle the French today crossed the Somme canal north of Ham and further south made good progress.

Beyond Guiscard they reached the borders of Belancourt.

Between the Ailette and the Aisne the French captured Clamesy, Braye and Missy in a rapidly developing flanking movement.

Reports from the front early this morning showed the advance was so rapid it was impossible to trace the line of defense.

The Germans are retreating in the general direction of St. Quentin. Several towns including La Fere are burning.

NEW FRANCO-AMERICAN DRIVE

GENERAL BERTHELOT'S ARMY AROUND RHEIMS LAUNCH NEW ATTACK EARLY THIS MORNING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

American patrols have progressed further.

General Berthelot's Franco-American army around Rheims launched a new attack this morning as a part of the movement to develop a successful drive on the Aisne-Vesle front.

It is expected here that the Franco-Americans will reach the Aisne tonight.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

He charged that the government is trying to terrorize the people and that the raid is out of harmony with American ideals.

GLENDALE TEACHERS

SIXTY-FIVE INSTRUCTORS RE-QUIRED IN THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS OF THE CITY

Until one has gone from school to school or has studied the accomplishments in war work of Glendale's grammar schools, it is not easy to realize their magnitude and importance. But the workers in the Junior Red Cross and the committeemen on the local war savings organization have a pretty good idea. Their efficiency is due to a splendid teaching force working harmoniously under the direction of Superintendent Richardson D. White, who is an exceedingly busy man as he does not get away from his school responsibilities even in vacation time. From him the following list of the teachers enrolled to date for the schools of the city, has been secured. There are still vacancies to be filled as several resignations have been tendered this week, but the Superintendent is confident of finding instructors of experience and qualifications to meet Glendale requirements.

TRANSPLANTED TEACHERS

Business Manager Irving Oliver has a pretty good idea what all the teachers who quit Union High School last year are going to do this year.

Percy Davis, teacher of mathematics, is principal of the Union High School at Lakeview, a suburb of San Diego near his ranch.

J. N. Clark will teach in the Burbank High School.

Miss Lantz, teacher of Domestic Science, is superintending her ranch in the Santa Clara Valley in the absence of her brother, who has gone to war.

Enid Fenton has gone to Oakland Polytechnic.

Miss Knepper, teacher of English, has gone to Hawaii.

ARMY AND NAVY BAND

FIFTY ARMY AND NAVY BOYS DISPENSE SWEET MUSIC TO GLENDALE PEOPLE

Glendale would have been glad to welcome the fifty splendid lads from army and navy who visited the city this (Thursday) morning at 9:30 o'clock, any time, even if they had not been players in the big Army and Navy band which Uncle Sam maintains and which is to give a concert on Admission Day, September 9th, at Exposition Park in connection with the Soldiers' and Sailors' Carnival and Field Day. They were met at Brand and Broadway by members of the local reception committee which consisted of the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, G. B. Woodberry, Olin Spencer, Acting Vice-Chairman of the Glendale Red Cross Chapter, F. H. Vesper, C. D. Lusby and A. T. Cowan. Owing to the brief length of their stay it was not possible for the committee to carry out in detail the program arranged, but the musicians were given the freedom of the city and responded with a spirited musical number. They were then escorted to the City Hall, playing en route, and on arriving there again gave two numbers which delighted the audience which accompanied them along the line of march on foot and in automobiles. A publicity speaker sent by the Government made a brief address in which he set forth the character of the entertainment to be furnished on Admission Day at Exposition Park and urged the public to patronize it and encourage our soldiers and sailors. While the speech was in progress, the band players were served with punch by Miss Alice Frank, assisted by Mrs. Bode and Miss Viola Yorba.

ARRIVE FROM HONOLULU

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Morgan arrived last week from Honolulu. They are now at the home of Mrs. Morgan's mother, Mrs. S. J. Mosher of South Central avenue.

Three other daughters were Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. Mosher on Sunday. They were Mrs. W. Glodman and Mrs. C. H. Carter of Pomona, and Mrs. J. F. McBryde of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan have lived in Honolulu for the past seventeen years, making their last visit to the States twelve years ago.

Their three sons, Dan, Carlton and Philip, arrived about two months ago.

PICNIC AT BOTT RANCH

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bott of 718 West Fifth street spent the week end at their beautiful walnut ranch at Pomona, leaving here Friday evening and taking as their guest Mrs. Genevieve Goss. While there they entertained at a picnic dinner served under the walnut trees a party of Glendale friends who motored to Pomona and spent Labor Day with them, returning at a late hour the same evening. The party included Mr. and Mrs. Claude Case, Miss Beatrice Case, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Case, Miss Grace Case, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Osgood and two children, Mrs. George Allen, Homer Allen and Mrs. H. A. Osgood of Los Angeles. The Bott ranch is in a lovely situation and the walnut grove is carrying a fine crop.

SHIPMENTS OF FRUITS FROM CALIFORNIA

Shipments of oranges and grapefruit from California for the year ending August 31, 1918, were 19,456 carloads and of lemons 5,777 carloads, making a total of 25,233 carloads,—according to the annual report of E. G. Dezell, Acting General Manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange. For the crop year the total shipments will figure about thirty-eight per cent of the previous season. The shortage was due to the extreme hot weather of June, 1917, and resulted in extremely high prices being paid for the limited supply. Based on the Exchange's results, this year's citrus crop will return $47,311,818.00 to California.

Segregated, the figures on the past year's shipments show a twenty per cent crop of Naval oranges, forty-seven per cent of a normal Valencia orange crop, seventy per cent of a normal yield of miscellaneous varieties, and seventy-one per cent of a normal lemon crop.

The California Fruit Growers Exchange, according to Mr. Dezell's report, handled seventy-six per cent of the shipments from the state. This is the largest percentage in recent years. The Exchange is a co-operative organization of 8,500 growers, who operate it at cost as a clearing house for their products. A remarkable record was revealed in the statement that "not a cent was lost during the year from uncollected bills, failures in business, or the transmission of funds," and while the Exchange in the last fifteen years has done a business of $262,000,000.00, "the losses during that period from bad debts and all other causes have been less than $8,000 or about 8-1000 of one per cent." The total average cost of the central and district Exchange marketing service was 6½ cents a box, or 1¼ per cent of the gross sales. In addition the Exchange has invested two cents per box on oranges, and four cents per box on lemons for advertising the "Sunkist" brand, and "keeping the delicious, healthful and useful qualities of California citrus fruits before the public."

"The results," says the report in referring to the extremely light crop and the costs of operation, "show the elasticity of the organization and its ability to meet unusual crop conditions without impairing its efficiency."

With reference to lemons, the report notes that the production in California increased 282 per cent in the fifteen years ending August 31, 1917, and forty-five per cent in the last five years. The young, non-bearing acreage is sufficient to increase the lemon yield seventy-five per cent when the new acreage comes into bearing. California will then be able not only to supply the full demand of the United States and Canada, but the consumption of lemons will need to be increased to absorb the domestic crop. The growers are depending upon "intensive and consistent advertising to increase the demand to take care of the increased production in sight."

The normal crop of Valencias is now substantially one-half as large as the Naval orange crop, and double what it was seven years ago. The report predicts that within a few years the crop of Valencias will equal that of Navals, which is normally about 33,000 carloads.

During the season the traffic department of the Exchange collected 10,138 railroad claims aggregating $211,475.11. The fruit Growers Supply Company handled a business of $3,532,500 in supplies for Exchange members. A separate company is being organized by Exchange shippers to manufacture low grade oranges and grapefruit into marmalade.

LIBERTY LOAN RECORDS IN WESTERN STATES

In the detailed report of the Third Liberty Loan in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District just compiled from the official records it is found that Pinal County, Arizona, holds the record for the highest oversubscription with 1308.96 per cent of its quota. White Pine County, Nevada, was first in the percentage of population subscribing with a record of 67.68 per cent.

Gila County, Arizona, won second place nationally in per capita subscriptions obtained by women and White Pine County, Nevada, was fourth nationally.

In this district Alaska won over the states in the percentage subscribed according to quota with a record of 252.58 per cent. Arizona was second with 213.17 per cent and Nevada third with 186.05 per cent. In the percentage of population subscribing, Southern California was first with 34.73 per cent and Northern California second with 28.76 per cent.

The percentage of subscription according to quota in the entire district was 136.13 per cent and the percentage in the district according to population was 25.71 per cent. The national percentage of quota was 139 per cent. Oregon was the first state in the district to reach its quota and if it had not been for an error in making the report of one bank Oregon would have had the national honor, winning from Iowa which was first officially by a few hours.

Among the larger cities of the Twelfth District, Vancouver,

Washington, was first in the percentage of amount of quota subscribed with a total of 731.55 per cent. Alameda, California, was second with a percentage of 369.89.

Phoenix, Arizona, led the large cities of the district in the percentage of population subscribing, having a total of 86.28 per cent. Long Beach, California, was second with a total of 76.21 per cent.

The Fourth loan will be offered September 28 to October 19. The amount has not been determined, but is expected to be six or eight billions.

TURN RABBIT PESTS INTO PROFITS

Fully 200,000,000 wild rabbits are killed in the United States every year according to estimates made by the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. Many of them are jack rabbits, the majority of which have not been utilized in the past. If all the rabbits killed were consumed, they would represent between 200,000 and 300,000 tons of valuable food, and if proper measures were taken to insure the collection of skins, these alone would have a value of $20,000,000. The Biological Survey has frequently been called upon to help western farmers in coping with the rabbit pest. In view of the probable economic value of rabbit meat and fur in the coming few years, the energies of the farmers and ranchmen will be directed to the conservation of this important resource. Already a number of establishments for collecting, dressing, canning, and shipping rabbit meat are in operation in western centers. As in Australia the transition of the wild rabbit in this country from its status as a pest to source of profit is assured, it is believed.

POSSIBLE ENFORCED CURTAILMENT

The Department of Labor issues the following:

A present shortage in war work of 1,000,000 unskilled laborers and the exhaustion of reserves of skilled workers are conditions which make the alignment of the Nation on a 100 per cent war basis an immediate and imperative necessity.

So acute is the labor shortage that completion of a number of important war projects for the Army and Navy is being delayed. No idle labor of any real value exists from which to draw the men needed to keep contracts on schedule delivery.

Nonessential production must be curtailed wholesale to release men for war work. Only thus can the balance be reestablished and assurance given that adequate supplies and ammunition will be provided for the fighting forces.

These facts as to the present war labor situation were brought out at a conference of field agents of the United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor in Washington. Reports from every section of the country told the same story of exhausted labor reserves and increasing shortages for war work.

"The time has come for the entire Nation to realize that business as usual is no longer possible," Nathan A. Smyth, assistant director of the United States Employment Service, told the conference.

"It is a question of winning the war quickly and finally or having it drag on indefinitely to an indefinite end. If we are to win the war quickly the production of luxuries and nonessentials in this country must come to an end. Classification of what are essentials at the present time has been brought by the War Industries Board to the point where definite action can be taken.

"We are faced with a condition which means a great lesson to be learned by the American people. When the people know the facts they will rise to the situation."

Roughly, the wages of these employees have been raised $25 per month.

THE OPPORTUNITY IS GREAT

Personals

Dr. C. Stuart Steelman and family spent the week-end, including Labor Day, at Camp Baldy.

F. L. Springer and family moved Thursday from 414 West Ninth street to 1546 West Broadway.

Miss Regina Stanley of Los Angeles was the week-end guest of Mrs. A. B. Heacock of West Ninth street.

Mrs. Edna Sawyer and little daughter have returned from Hermosa Beach, where they have spent two or three weeks.

Miss Clara Midcalf is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ethel Haskell of 2122 Park avenue, Los Angeles. She will be back in Glendale permanently next week.

Miss Gladys Hamilton, who has been spending several weeks with friends at Newcastle, will be home next week in time for the opening of her school on the 16th.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Hoffer of 665 East Acacia avenue are moving to Torrance. They have sold their property to parties from the East. Mr. Hoffer is manager of a manufactory in Torrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gates of Eaton, Colorado, who are stopping temporarily in Santa Monica, called upon Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shattuck Wednesday. With them were Mr. and Mrs. George Montgomery of Hollywood, former residents of Glendale.

Red Cross headquarters on Brand boulevard will be officially deserted this morning as all the chairmen are going to Los Angeles to attend a conference with representatives of the Pacific Division in regard to allotments and other matters of interest to the chapter.

Mrs. Noble Ripley has leased her home at 527 Mariposa street to Mrs. Julian Bennett, who formerly lived in the Tropic District but who has been spending the summer at Long Beach. She has decided she likes Glendale best, however, and with her children has come back here to reside.

The Board of Education of Fullerton High School District has just awarded a contract for the construction of a reinforced concrete polytechnic building on the High School grounds to cost nearly $27,000. It will be a one-story and basement structure.

While attempting to crank a new delivery car last Monday, Louis Le Grand, who is employed at the Pacific Electric Station, broke a bone in his right arm. He is not yet past the stage of suffering but is getting along well and thinks he will be able to resume work in a few days.

About sixty persons attended the dinner and reception of officers and teachers of the Tropic Presbyterian Sunday School in honor of Paul Rider Tuesday evening. There was a brief program and a social good time with games and other diversions, and Private Rider was presented with a soldier's kit.

Alfred F. Priest of 615 Fay building, Los Angeles, who resides in this city, has just executed an architectural commission for R. H. Brown, who is building a one-story, eight-room dwelling at Twenty-seventh and Budlong avenue, Los Angeles. It is of frame construction and will be modern in every way.

Mrs. Brown, wife of Captain Harry Brown, is now established as secretary of the Intermediate School and fits in as though she had always belonged there. She takes the place of Miss Margaret McPherson who was enticed away by one of the Glendale banks. She took training in the Commercial Department of the High School last year and has been getting her hand in during the summer. She is not altogether unacquainted with business as she had considerable to do with the business affairs of her doctor husband. Now that he is in the army, she wants to be busy at something, and this will be very congenial work. The Captain is in training at Fort Riley.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Mrs. Elizabeth Kassell, who will celebrate her birthday on Saturday of this week, was the honored guest at a surprise party given Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. A. Pollock. The guests were Mrs. R. M. Sanders, Mrs. George Friedgen, Mrs. Fred Hartwig, Mrs. George Peck, Mrs. Will Dutton and Mrs. Della Haggood.

A very appetizing luncheon was served and the ladies spent a happy afternoon in visiting and needlework. Mrs. Kassell was the recipient of a birthday gift of a dainty handmade apron from each of her guests.

CARLTON WEST HOME

Carlton West, who has been attending the Enlisted Specialists' school at Fort Scott, where he was taking the Master Gunner's course, spent a five-day furlough at his home here, returning Wednesday to Fort Scott before leaving for Fortress Monroe, Virginia, where he will continue his course. In the final examinations at Fort Scott, Carlton was twenty-fourth in a list of sixty college and professional men who took the course. Carlton's mother, Mrs. J. J. West, and sister, Miss Ethel, leave Saturday for San Francisco to bid him good-bye before he leaves for the East. Miss Ethel will sail from San Francisco for Honolulu, where she will teach the coming year.

Mrs. E. A. Case, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. E. E. Osgood and Miss Grace Case, is entertaining this afternoon at her pleasant home at 111 South Kenwood, for another daughter, Mrs. George W. Allen of Taft, who has been a visitor here during the past six weeks and who is returning to her home Friday. Mrs. Allen was a former resident of Glendale and has been much entertained during her stay by her old neighbors and friends. The guest list this afternoon will include Mrs. Elizabeth Sinclair, Miss Lily Fielding, Mrs. Henry Roehr, Mesdames Nettie Squiers, W. N. McMillan, Dan Mallett, A. T. Knight, Frank Campbell, Claude Case, A. H. Brown (another daughter of the hostess from Fullerton), Jessie Dutton, Misses Carrie Rich, Sarah Walker and Beatrice Case.

FINE MEETING

Carnation Rebecca Lodge had an unusually interesting meeting Tuesday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall on the corner of Third and Isabel streets. Several visitors from other lodges were present and contributed their share in the "Good of the Order" work. At its next meeting, September 17th, this lodge will celebrate its 61st anniversary with a splendid program, which will be public, the proceeds to be used for the Orphans' Home maintained by the Order.

COVER CROPS

Freeman Kelley, the nurseryman and florist, says that ranchers should be thinking now about cover crops for orchards. A much greater variety of the desirable nitrogen-gathering legumes is on the market than was once to be had. For planting at this season, Melilotus and Burr Clover are excellent. He called attention to a comparatively new cover plant, the Sesbania, also a legume and known as the wild hemp of the Colorado Desert. It is said to be adapted to dry soils and to stand more heat than other cover crops. In fact it must be planted in hot weather to germinate properly and establish its root system, and can be seeded any time from June to August. Its dense, fern-like foliage is said to make a very fine green manure crop.

Mr. Kelley also says this is the time to plant the Christmas-flowering sweet pea, a quickly maturing variety which comes into bloom the latter part of December or first of January if planted in September.

DEATH OF MRS. S. P. ILIFF

Mrs. Serepta P. Iliff passed away at the home of her grandson, George D. Roach, at 4 p. m. Wednesday, September 4, 1918. Mrs. Iliff was 82 years of age and had always enjoyed good health during her long life, and her passing was very unexpected. She was the mother of Mrs. Aldah Roach of Los Angeles, the grandmother of Mrs. Clara Morgan of Los Angeles and G. D. Roach of Glendale, and great grandmother of George and Robert Roach. She also had a daughter and three grandchildren in the East. She was a native of Indiana and lived in that state until coming to California twelve years ago to make her home with her daughter.

The funeral services will be held in the "Little Church of the Flowers" at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Friday at 2 p. m. All friends will be welcome. The Pulliam Undertaking Company will be in charge.

P. E. O. WAR WORK

A fine donation for French relief was carried to Los Angeles Tuesday morning by representatives of Chapter A. H. of the P. E. O., Tropic District, and gratefully received at the French Relief Headquarters. All summer, members of this organization and their friends have been meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Barker on Glendale avenue every Friday for an all-day session, taking lunch with them. There, in the shade of the pergola, which is such a feature of Mrs. Barker's home, they have met ten times and accomplished a quite astonishing amount, which has been augmented by work which members have taken home to complete. One especially industrious and patriotic P. E. O., Mrs. Andrew Stephenson, has pieced at home the tops for five full-sized comforters. They expect to continue these meetings until the first of October, when regular P. E. O. sessions will be resumed, and some reorganization of their war work may be necessary. Following is an inventory of the shipment to French Relief headquarters:

- 5 full-sized bed comforters for hospital use
- 16 baby comforters
- 17 outing flannel gowns
- 12 long cloth baby dresses
- 16 baby jackets
- 11 dresses for 5-year-old children
- 15 children's outing flannel petticoats
- 22 pairs of booties
- 7 pairs of stockings (donated)
- 3 baby caps
- 8 baby petticoats
- 10 pairs woolen pants for boys of 5 and 6
- 10 boys' waists
- 3 heavy woolen coats (donated)
- 9 miscellaneous garments
- 9 baby vests
- 1 knitted shawl
- 2 full-sized bed blankets (donated)

NEW SCHOOLS FOR LONG BEACH

The board of education of Long Beach has been granted permission by the board of supervisors to include in its budget a special tax of 15c per $100 for building purposes. The tax will raise about $50,000, of which $7220 will be expended for the erection of ten school bungalows and $30,000 for one permanent building.

WOUNDED LIMBS ARE RE-EDUCATED

(By United Press)
LONDON, Aug. 17. (By Mail).—This war uncaged demons of destruction heretofore unknown to warfare. To combat them, surgery has reorganized its technique.

Great has been the development of war's power to tear down, greater by far is the progress of science in the work of rebuilding. A concrete proof of this is shown in the record of the huge Military Orthopedic hospital here, with which the American Red Cross orthopedic hospitals in London are allied. Three-fourths of the patients in these institutions are being made fit to re-enter the army in some form of service.

The remarkable achievements of surgery have been no more striking than the results obtained by the slow, patient processes of orthopedic treatment. In fact, the latter has made gains even more spectacular than those of surgery, for orthopedic science, which before the war was a more or less obscure and humble little brother to surgery, has grown almost overnight to full stature.

The word orthopedic literally means making a little child straight. The science began with the treatment of children's deformities. Now it is applied to restoring to use soldiers' arms and legs which have been stiffened or distorted by wounds, accidents and disease.

The problem of the war cripple is met first by ingenious surgery and manipulation and the careful education of men in the use of the disabled limbs; second, by training disabled soldiers in the trade for which their disablement least handicaps them. The half-way station between the two is the "gymnasium."

As the visitor follows the officer director into the Military Orthopedic gymnasium, he sees a score of soldiers seated on benches. A sergeant at a desk in the far corner rises as the director approaches. "All ready, sir," he reports. The director turns to the men with a brisk, "Carry on!"

Slowly the men move out into the room and take their places before the various pieces of apparatus. Some go up to the big adjustable horizontal beams which stretch across the room and place their hands on a beam about shoulder high. One approaches a long strip of canvas with broad stripes running from end to end. A pale boy stretches out on a mat-covered bench and, motionless, stares up at the ceiling. The majority range themselves along the walls at ladders, climbing-ropes and hand-grasps. No one speaks. Apparently there is no movement. Absolute quiet prevails.

It is a strange sight for the visitor. A gym to him has meant a place for vigorous exercise and noisy games. Here everyone seems to be perfectly motionless except the soldier on the striped canvas, who with great effort and infinite caution is attempting to move along one of the black lines. He is trying to teach a shell-shattered foot to walk again.

The visitor was taken by an American army surgeon into the massage and electric-treatment room, a spacious ward where a dozen or more soldiers were sitting quietly while nurses massaged and worked over their injuries. The young women, kindly sympathetic, smiled always and talked encouragingly to the patients. Psychology of encouragement is well understood and carried out in this hospital.

In this hospital each patient's case is carefully studied and a general plan of individual treatment is mapped out. Several operations may be necessary, and by means of the X-ray the surgeons note carefully the patient's progress. Thousands of men are being rehabilitated who before the war would have been discarded as cripples.

After a patient has progressed to such a point that his injured arm or leg has begun to function, he is ready for the most interesting part, to him, of his treatment—work in the so-called curative workshops, a unique and highly important feature of the Military Orthopedic hospital.

It is not the purpose of these shops to teach trades. After they have been discharged from the orthopedic hospital, the government sends the patients to various technical schools for that kind of training. The orthopedic workshops are purely curative, and the work to which a patient is assigned is chosen with special regard to his particular injury. For example, men suffering from adhesions or weak muscles of the feet, are put to work on a treadle fret-saw machine or a treadle sewing machine.

There are more than 1200 patients at the Military Orthopedic, and the majority of them, in the course of their treatment, are given work of some kind in the curative workshops. These shops engage in carpentry work, boot and shoe making, tailoring, splint making and many other industries. Everything used in the hospital is made by the patients, and there is even a shop for cigarette makers.

EXECUTE HERO BUT LET COWARD LIVE

By Joseph Shaplen

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Bolshevik "justice" killed Capt. Schastny, patriot and hero, and saved the life of Dibenko, coward, traitor, and drunken officer.

The stories of the two men bring out so clearly the "quality of mercy" of the bolsheviks, that I relate them together:

Capt. Schastny was a brilliant young Russian naval officer. He was a socialist revolutionist of the conservative wing. When the Germans landed troops in Finland and began their advance on Helsingfors where nearly the entire Russian Baltic fleet was stationed at the time, Capt. Schastny, with the personnel of the fleet reduced to one-third and none of the ships being ready to put to sea, was given command and requested by the sailors to do his best to transfer the fleet to Kronstadt and thus save it from falling into the hands of the Germans. For a while the sailors thought they would be unable to move the fleet from Helsingfors in time and had begun to make preparations to blow it up. When the Germans heard of their plan they published a proclamation stating that the blowing up of the Baltic fleet by the Russian sailors would mean the execution of as many of them as might be captured.

The Germans wanted to seize the Baltic fleet and thus make good all the naval losses they suffered throughout the war. The only thing left was to transfer the fleet to Kronstadt. Under the able and brilliant command of Capt. Schastny this was accomplished in time. When the Germans reached Helsingfors they found most of the Russian fleet gone.

Some three months later Trotsky, bolshevik war minister, called Capt. Schastny for an alleged conference to Moscow. As the captain entered Trotsky's office, the latter walked out, summoned two red guardsmen and ordered Schastny put under arrest. Trotsky accused Schastny of engaging in counter revolutionary conspiracies against the bolshevik government, of attempting to rouse the sailors of the Baltic fleet among whom Schastny was very popular, to revolt against the dictatorship of Lenin and save Russia from German and other foreign domination.

Schastny was put on trial. Krilenko, former commander-in-chief of the bolshevik "armies," was prosecuting attorney. Trotsky was the only witness. In a dramatic 3-hour speech he demanded the execution of Schastny. Among other things, he said:

"Capt. Schastny has performed a brave task, but like every counter revolutionist, Capt. Schastny had the right to engage in counter revolutionary conspiracies against the Soviet government. He had no right to play with the fate of the fleet."

A sailor in the courtroom could not stand for the latter.

"How about your playing with the fate of Russia?" he cried. Capt. Schastny, Russian patriot, republican and saviour of the Baltic fleet, was executed. His last words were:

"One must know how to die bravely in a revolution."

A few weeks prior to the execution of Capt. Schastny another man, high in the councils of the Bolshevik government, chief commissary of the Baltic fleet, was also on trial. His name is Dibenko. He was accused of cowardice, drunkenness and conduct unbecoming a revolutionary leader. At the trial it was proved that when sent at the head of a detachment of 2,000 Baltic sea sailors to stop the German Advance on Narva, in February, he got drunk and ran away, leaving his men in the lurch. Such cowardice is certainly punishable by death, especially by any self-respecting revolutionary government. But Dibenko, the coward and drunkard, was a bolshevik. He was found guilty and simply expelled from the bolshevik party. He is alive today and is engaging in silly braggadoocio and in robber raids up and down the Volga. Thus does bolshevik justice work.

Capt. Schastny performed a brave task. He is dead.

Dibenko was a coward and ran away, surrendering Narva to the Germans. He is alive and free.

INDIAN BLANKETS

The War Industries Board authorizes the following:

Because of the necessity of conserving the existing wool supply for the military needs, Herbert E. Peabody, chief of the woollens section, and Lewis Penwell, chief of the domestic wool section, of the War Industries Board, have requested all woolen mills to refrain from further manufacture of Navajo or fancy Indian blankets. This applies to the mills only and not to the Indians, whose small production is made upon hand looms.

The woolen mills have been further requested to divert their stocks into the production of clothing material for loggers engaged in work for the Emergency Fleet Corporation and for the aircraft production.

Miss Ruth Rouse, a Y. M. C. A. canteen worker in France, who was injured when a German shell burst near her, is in a hospital in London and will recover.

The Japanese are producing annually 20,000,000 tons of coal from the mines of Japan and South Manchuria.

MOB SURRENDERS TO MIGHTY MUSIC

By Joseph Shaplen

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Revolutions are as capricious as a pretty woman. They can throw a people into ecstasies of joy and fits of despair. They bring out the noblest and basest in man. That is just exactly what the Russian revolution has done to the Russian people.

When one arrived in Petrograd last January he found mobs of civilians and soldiery smashing and robbing wine cellars and getting beastly drunk. The unkindest cut of all dealt by the revolution to the old court camarilla, I suppose, must have been the looting of the wonderful wine cellars of the winter palace. They were wild, dangerous mobs that worked in Petrograd in those December and January days. They showed particular preference for wine and champagne stored by the Romanoffs for the entertainment of the Rasputins. But that would not have been half so bad. The bolsheviks handled the mobs on this score quite easily, although in one case, I remember, there were no less than 186 calls for help received at Smolyn in one day, the day when the wine cellar smashing beat all records.

It was on that day, however, that the mob turned from the smashing of the former Czarina's private chambers and the wonderful works of art in the palace. Here was a typical, wild mob of the French Revolution. It was disgusting, abhorrent, repulsive to see that mob at work.

About 6 months later—during the May First demonstration—I met the same mob in one of the magnificent ballrooms of the Winter Palace. There was something quite different written on those faces. There was ecstasy and expectation. These people had been marching several hours, with red banners, singing songs of freedom, brotherhood and the Internationale. They were all half starved, but there was a marvelous, significant fire in those eyes. I marvelled. I was puzzled until from a neighboring room I suddenly heard the strains of wonderful music. It was the famous Petrograd conductor, Kouts, leading his orchestra. The smashers of wine cellars sat motionless, enchanted. I suddenly understood.

They were listening to the sweet strains of the Requiem of Mozart.

SURVEYING INSTRUMENTS WANTED

The engineering department of the army finds itself in need of more surveying instruments than can be secured from the manufacturers and has sent out a hurry call to the engineering profession asking that all instruments suitable for government use be offered wherever possible. Capt. Chas. T. Leeds of the Los Angeles District, has issued the following circular letter covering the government's needs:

1. The scarcity of surveying instruments and the inability of manufacturers to supply them, coupled with the demands of the American Expeditionary Forces, makes it mandatory that every available instrument be utilized at its maximum efficiency. Plane tables and alidades are especially needed for war work.

2. No doubt a great many patriotic citizens under the circumstances will be glad to offer their surveying instruments at reasonable prices for purchase by the Government. Such offers should be mailed to the Department Engineer, Western Department, 216 Pine Street, San Francisco, and should state the kind, type, and catalog number of the maker, original cost, year purchased, present conditions and lowest cash price delivered at the above address.

3. It is believed that engineers who have spare instruments will take this opportunity to render a patriotic duty to the Government.

FOR NURSES WHO ARE ILL

(By United Press)

LONDON, Aug. 18. (By Mail.)—A convalescent home for American nurses, the first of its kind in England, has been opened by the American Red Cross at Putney.

The institution is housed in Colebrook Lodge, one of the finest houses on West Hill, close to Putney Heath, formerly the home of Charles T. Yerkes of Chicago. The house is a three-story modern building, constructed on the 300-year-old foundations of the Putney Manor house. There are nearly three acres of gardens and lawns. At the start the convalescent home will have accommodation for 25 nurses, most of whom are recovering from illness incurred while on duty in France.

The convalescent home will be under direct charge of Miss Carrie Hall, chief nurse for the American Red Cross in Great Britain.

Rippling & Hollivet, members of the Building Industries Association, have the contract for the brick and concrete work for a two-story factory building at 1501 Central avenue for Grier & Winnett, to be occupied by the Standard Auto Body Works. The carpentry work is being done by the day under the supervision of the architect, C. C. Rittenhouse of this city.

The Second street tunnel, which has been expected to do so much for that part of the city of Los Angeles and beyond, will not materialize until after the war. The capital issues committee of the government has refused to approve the project under present conditions.

BILL COMES UP IN CALIFORNIA

Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, before mentioned in these columns as one of the most astute of the thinking statisticians in America if not the world, has been able to obtain recently "from a rather unexpected source" what constitutes almost a literal translation of information from the annual report of the Communal Sick Fund of the city of Leipsig for the year 1917, with some of the information brought down to the spring of 1918. Dr. Hoffman holds that "the greatest of popular delusions is Germany's unlimited resources and power of physical endurance" and he proves it most conclusively by quotations from the results of the Social Insurance system there which Germany would now wish on the United States. The translation he gives in a nut-shell shows heavy increase in expenditures, growing evidences of insolvency, the use of sick funds in an improper manner and a wholly discouraging outlook for the future, for these Social Insurance funds, though nominally managed by the insured, have become practically state institutions "to be managed by the authorities for whatever governmental purposes may require."

It was Mr. Hoffman who was led to declare not long ago that Social Insurance was not being agitated by Germany as a real welfare work but merely to load other nations with equally burdensome costs so as to enable her manufacturers better to compete in the world's market. This seems to be logical in the light of the now generally known German methods of war, diplomacy and business.

While the German Social Insurance scheme is admittedly a failure in protecting the working people even in that bureaucratic ridden country, propagandists are still busy trying to foist the scheme off on labor here. It is coming up in California this fall as a constitutional amendment and is due for introduction in Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania.

Chester H. Rowell, chairman of the California Social Insurance Commission, when talking about the amendment (Senate No. 26) before the City Club in Los Angeles recently minimized the German-made features of the scheme which it will be recalled that Dr. Rubinow, one of its leading advocates, so persistently has pointed out. R. S. Gray, a San Francisco attorney, declared at the same meeting that the amendment was the most dangerous attack on the constitution that had ever been attempted in California.

Percy V. Long, another San Francisco attorney, says that if the so-called insurance amendment is adopted it would authorize the legislature of California to pass a measure or measures in the name of Social Insurance which might completely overturn in many instances established rules of government. In addition, individuals can be deprived of rights which they now enjoy by reason of constitutional guarantees. If the California amendment is adopted all kinds of legislation could be enacted which might only remotely have to do with the subject of Social Insurance, but which could be declared by the legislature to be in the interest of industrial welfare.

President R. H. Gerard of the National Fraternal Congress, an organization which has declared it always gets what it goes after, draws note in his address at the opening session being held in Philadelphia this week, that the scheme has gained the attention of misguided individuals in America who are led on by a carefully worded propaganda to believe that the German Government has been interested in improving the conditions of its people. It is the climax of German falsehoods. That government now "disposes of the laborer's wages to such an extent," Mr. Gerard says, "that he does not have enough left to strike out for himself." It is facts of this type that have turned organized labor against the scheme. There's to be no hog-tie for American labor if they can help it.—The Insurance Field.

COUNTY WANTS CIVIL SERVICE APPLICANTS

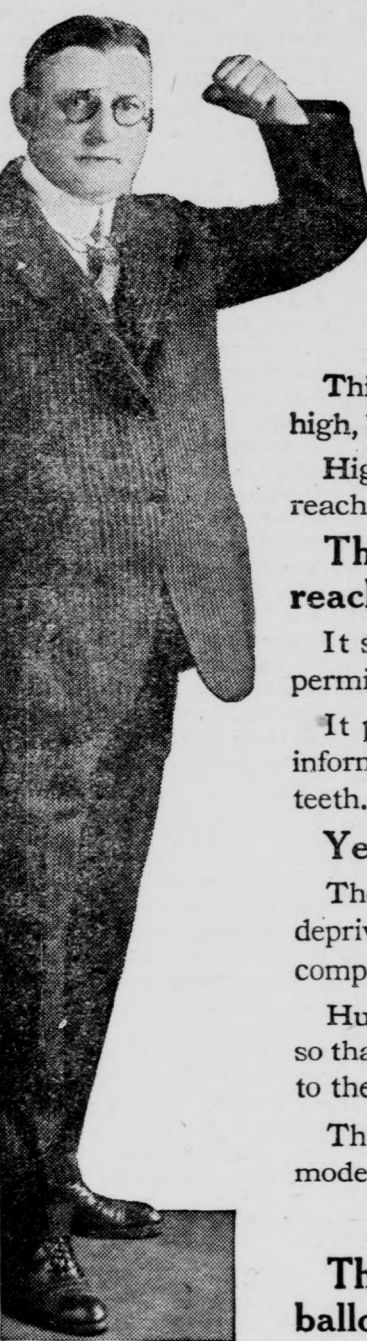

The Los Angeles county civil service commission will hold examinations for applicants for the following positions: First-class carpenter, $5.00 per day, and second-class carpenter, $3.50 to $4.00 per day, examination September 23; steam and gas roller engineer, $4.75 per day, October 3rd; steam shovel crane-man, $130.00 per month, Oct. 7th; steam shovel fireman, $90.00 per month, October 7th; sheet metal worker, first class, $5.50 per day, and sheet metal worker, second-class, $3.50 per day, September 25th; electrician, first-class, $5.00 per day, and electrician, second-class, $4.00 per day, Sept. 27th. Complete information may be secured at room 1007 Hall of Records.

War is taking engineers away from civil positions as well as doctors. Last week City Engineer Daniel Miller of Long Beach asked for leave of absence to take a position in the Quartermaster General's Construction Department, in the division of sewers, and will leave for Washington this week, and his chief draughtsman, H. Patterson, will sever his connection with the Long Beach office very soon.

The city of Coronado has also lost its city engineer, H. A. Kuehnstedt having resigned last week to take effect September 1, to enter the service of the San Diego & Arizona R. R., at a larger salary. He will be succeeded by Frank Hyatt, now city engineer of East San Diego.

Dental Trust Must Go

Amendment to Dental Law Breaks Power of Combine and Safeguards Interests of All

PAINLESS PARKER

More than 125,000 Californians have asked to have the Dental Law amended.

If you knew how the present Dental Law operates you would realize that never has there been greater reason for change in a law.

Dental laws are made at the command of a combine of political dentists for their own profit, under the excuse, "protection for the people."

This permits them to fix high prices, and hold them high, by regulating competition.

High prices make a luxury of dentistry and put it out of reach of eighty per cent of the people.

This amendment brings dentistry within reach of all the people.

It secures the services of highly skilled dentists, permitted to charge reasonable fees.

It permits dentists to give openly to the public information the people should have about the care of their teeth.

Yes! I have personal interest in this measure.

The Dental Trust seeks to ruin those it cannot control, depriving the people of fair prices which come only through competition.

Huge sums of money are being used to cloud the issue, so that the interests of the people may be made secondary to the profits of the dentists.

This is your fight to make it possible for people of moderate means to save their teeth.

End this autocracy.

The Dental Amendment will be No. 21 on the ballot.

VOTE YES

ROYAL FAVORITE NOW WAITRESS' PAL

By Joseph Shaplen

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—At least one member of the former Czar's household enjoyed the respect and good care of the bolsheviks. He lived comfortably at the hotel Astoria, opposite the German embassy in Petrograd, a hostelry that at one time was the rendezvous of fashionable Petrograd and has since the bolshevik revolution been occupied by bolshevik officials.

The aforementioned member of the ex-Czar's family lived in one of the finest rooms of the hotel. His food was carefully attended to by a waitress who showed a particular liking for him and called him "her own." I once had a long talk with her about him while she served me some bad fish and cabbage soup for dinner. There was a soft fondness written all over her face and she said that her Romanoff friend would yet bring her a lot of money as a foundation of her fortune.

As I was working away at the fish he came in, rather tall, garceful, the aristocrat par excellence. There was a deep melancholy look in his eyes and he seemed to be demanding not sympathy but recognition. Then I understood the waitress' fondness for him. I realized that many an American society woman would have lost her heart to him, for it was the former Czar's favorite Russian wolf hound.

The new office building for the Navy Department, Washington, D. C., is a three-story reinforced concrete structure covering 42 acres of ground and accommodating 15,000 people.
